NAMES. - In an article on Prof. Schele de Vere's "Studies in English," the Charlottesville Chronicle refers to a topic slightly touched on in the work mentioned-Names of Placesand adds:

the fairest scenes of nature in her prime, with the times. coast, river, and woodland, expanding around in all the magnificence of novelty and extent, their loyal and filial feelings prevailed over the poetical taste of that, the poetical age of England, and in place of the stately and sonorous Indian designation of 'Powhatan,' the 'Father of Waters'-as that noble estuary, the Nile of James.'

This inauspicious opening was followed up through all the succeeding years of colonial denendence, until we have no less than sixteen princes and princesses amongst us at this day in as many counties called after these royal personages, beginning with Henrico, one of the eight original shires. The next class of names are those of historical note; and how grand they yet sound in our ears!—York, Lancaster, Northumberland, Warwick-all redolent of Shakspeare and Kapin. Then come the Governors of the 'Old Dominion;' each one, provincial or State, commemorated by a countytwo being assigned to Patrick Henry. Happily Potomac, the Opequon, the Rappahannock, great sacrifice. the four-fold Mat ta-po ny, its banks now famous and forever as our bloodiest battle ground. the Pamunkey, the Appomattox, immortalized as giving name to the closing scene of our woeful struggle, and the Roanoke, all rejoice in the beauty and dignity of their aboriginal appellations, hereafter to afford full scope to the acumen of the antiquary and the philologist."

A VENERABLE ENGLISH JUDGE. - "They tell a capital story of ex-Chief Baron Pollock. that one who wished him to resign waited on him, and hinted at it, and suggested it, for his own sake, entirely with a view to the prolongation of his valued life, and so forth. The old man rose, and said with his grim dry gravity, "Will you dance with me?" The guest to caper about with a certain youthlike vivacity. Seeing his visitor standing surprised, he capered up to him and said: "Well, if you won't dance with me, will you box with me?" visitors anxiously inquiring after his health, and courteously suggesting retirement.

"The Lord Chief Baron was prone to the expression of strong general views, which he conveyed in a manner eminently characteristic, with an idiomatic vigor and originality almost amusing. 'If,' said he, on one occasion, 'every man was to take advantage of every occasion to have the law of his neighbor, life would not be long enough for the litigation which would into plaintiffs and defendants.' The reader must imagine this uttered in a slow, distinct, deliberate, solemn voice, with considerable energy and a raising of the tone at the words

THE STEENBOCK CASE.—The house of Steenbock, in this city, is probably the largest dry goods establishment in the State, and its I recent compulsory closing has excited quite a the levying of several attachments against the stock. The first attachment is that of Claffin & Co., of New York, a firm which has an exwhich the attachment was sued out, was, as olaffin & Co.; that the removal of the goods an order by W. L. CLARK & Co., Ch. mists, which was made occasion for attachment was simply the sending of some superfluous stock to be disposed of at auction; that the proceedings against him was unwarranted and injurious for which heavy damages will be sued for .-The attachment covers between forty and fifty thousand dollars. The case will, doubtless, excite great interest in court.—Rich. Enq.

University of Virginia.—A large crowd, as usual assembled in the great hall at the University on Saturday evening, to see and hear the exercises of the 13th of April, which occasion is always commemorated by the Jefferson Society. The "Ugly Club" held an election on Saturday afternoon to decide who of the lawn were lined with fair faces.

In making selections for the different honors, formation. merit of course was the controlling consideration; but reference was also had to the "wit" and "speaking abilities" of the parties, as it is of the last importance that the successful candidates shall be able to demean themselves With credit to the society at the final exercises at the close of the session .- Charlottesville

The celebrated Esterhazy jewels sold at auction in London for £37,760. Among the oblects sold were one diamond, seventeen carats, which went for £4,000, and a splendid Hungarian uniform of rich Genoa velvet, whereof the sleeves of the pelisse alone contained 10,000 pearls; this uniform sold in four lots for £2,-

WASHING MACHINES. A MERICAN CHAMPION
PATENT WRINGER
AND WASHING MACHINE.

Time and Labor Saved. We have taken the agency of this justly celebrated machine. Housekeepers are particularly requested to call and examine it for themselves, whether desiring to purchase or not By its use the washing of a large family can be done in one fourth of the ordinary time, and with comparatively little or no labor. It is perfectly simple, and not at all liable to get cut of repair. A child is strong enough to work it, and it washes the clothes beautifully, and with not half the wear that they are subjected to in the ordinary way. It will be loaned on trial for one day to parties desiring to purchase.
